

de vrijheid van denken, twijfelen en creëren op alle terreinen.

the freedom to think, doubt and create in all areas petra blaisse is a dutch artist who has a lot of roots in other country's.

She was born in London and lived during her youth in Lisbon, Paris and Stockholm.
She studied at the art academie in London and Groningen.

The person that put Petra Blaisse out in the design world would be Rem koolhaas who she worked for and later not only became her working partner but also her lover.

Now Petra has her own agency called Inside Outside, this name is a reflection of her work.
Blaisse knows how she can combine interior and exterior in a way not many people know how to do.
Her curtains for example have often a print which reflex the outside world into a living space.
So Petra Blaisse is not really a interior designer but also a landscaper and she loves to combine them.
